JULY 2, 2020

On Tuesday, June 30th, we submitted our required Return to Learn Plan to the Iowa Department of Education. While this was a step forward in planning for the upcoming school year, it is not a definitive plan for how things will be structured on August 24 when the school year begins.

The submitted plan was a checklist of how we will address the learning disruption due to COVID-19, how we can meet the social and emotional needs of our students, faculty, and staff, health and safety precautions needed, what resources and technology are available, and several other important considerations.

Our next step is to take that checklist and create three plans to continue education no matter what circumstances August brings. These will include an in-person learning plan, online learning plan and a hybrid plan combining elements of both.

Whichever learning plan is in place, all Central DeWitt Community School District students will begin school on Monday, August 24, 2020.

We promise to continue sharing important information that addresses many of your questions and concerns over the coming weeks. Thank you for your patience while our administrative team works to provide plans that best suit the needs of our Saber family!
